

November 19, 2002

To Whom It May Concern:

I would like to take the opportunity to comment on the proposed revision to Indiana Telephone Privacy Action List.

- The FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections.
- Indiana's Telephone Privacy law has improved my time at home by not having to waste time answering telemarketing phone calls but if the law is lessening in any aspect then it won't be as helpful for me or anyone else.
- Indiana's law has been very effective as well. I used to receive 12 calls per week, now I only receive one.
- Other states have similar Telephone Privacy laws for their respected states; Indiana needs to have one as well.

Please consider these points before making any changes to the current law, which has helped the citizens of the state of Indiana.

Respectfully yours,

Jeff Simon